

Heard that the proper place for a former president was on the platform. I informed Mr. Wadsworth that I thought the proposed action unfair and that if Mr. Sherman's name were presented to the committee without consultation among any large number of members, I would oppose it, and put up the name of Colonel Roosevelt. I also told Mr. Ward the same thing. I understood from Mr. Ward that President Taft approved of Mr. Sherman's selection, which I thought strange, inasmuch as the President had told me but a few days before that he favored consultation with Colonel Roosevelt in all matters pertaining to the Republican party in New York. I had stated that the meeting was surrounded with deceit, and it certainly was so far as I was concerned.

Several New York county committees backed up Mr. Grismore in his assertion that Ward had favored Mr. Sherman for the chairmanship. Chairman Woodruff interrupted to say that there must have been some misunderstanding all around, for not one of the members had indicated that the President had been consulted. At the instance of Barnes, a poll of the committee was then taken, in which a member arose and declared in effect that he had not been deceived in casting his vote for Sherman.

Woodruff didn't know it. Chairman Woodruff declared: "I never knew that Colonel Roosevelt's name was to be presented until Mr. Grismore arose in his place and announced it."

Mr. Dady, of Brooklyn, said: "If Colonel Roosevelt had asked me to vote for him I would certainly have said 'Yes.'"

"We all would," said Chairman Woodruff. Speaker Wadsworth said: "I must correct the statement of Mr. Grismore. He told me before the meeting of his intention of presenting Colonel Roosevelt's name. I was taken by surprise when he did so."

Mr. Grismore reiterated his statement that he believed there was trickery, and Samuel Krulewicz, of Manhattan, said he was present and heard Grismore tell Speaker Wadsworth that Colonel Roosevelt's name was to be presented. The episode concluded with this remark by Chairman Woodruff:

"I think this charge by Mr. Grismore and others, a charge by Republicans against Republicans, is the most unwarranted piece of business I have ever known."

The motion was then carried that Mr. Sherman's selection as temporary chairman was made without misrepresentation.

In Political Turnout. Saratoga seethes in a political turmoil to-night. The Old Guard is making its battle on the issue of "shall Roosevelt rule the State?"

Colonel Roosevelt reached here late to-day, and in five minutes had plunged into the situation, taking full command of the Progressive's force and rounding up the wavering unpledged delegates. The ebb and flow of the political tide finally set in for the Progressives to-night, and the column after a conference with his lieutenants, repeated his declaration made at Troy to-day: "We have beaten them to a frazzle, and the trophies are ours."

When Colonel Roosevelt came into Saratoga, he was met at the railway station by the New York county delegation, headed by Lloyd C. Grismore, Representative Parsons and Otto Barnard, of New York, and hundreds of delegates and townspeople. A procession was formed, and headed by a "band," marched to the United States Hotel, where the Colonel was rushed to the second-story piazza to make a brief speech in response to the crowd.

Will Make Speech To-Day. "Good Luck," he shouted, waving

Here it is—all ready to wear. It will fit you, suit you and flatter you.

What more could a man ask in a coat at $25?

Pants, $8.

White Vests, $3.50 to $7.50.

his black sombrero to the crowd. "I shall not try to make any speech now. I'll make my speech to-morrow."

Then, before the crowd could rush in on him, the Colonel was swept away to his headquarters, where, with his lieutenants, he obtained the latest information concerning the situation.

Vice-President Sherman came to the village this morning from Utica and went quietly to his room. Few knew of his arrival. Mr. Sherman had nothing to say and spent the day talking with friends on the veranda of the hotel. Mr. Sherman, it was learned, entertains no very excited hopes of his election to the temporary chairmanship, but he says he is in the fight.

The Vice-President, however, came for a spirited demonstration to-night when a marching club of about 200 members, with a band, arrived from Utica. Mr. Sherman met the "Boys from Onondaga," as he called them, and marched with them once around the great court of the United States Hotel. The marchers carried small American flags and the Vice-President and his followers were rapturously cheered by the Old Guard and its cohorts.

The parade then led the way to the band stand, and the Vice-President was cheered and urged to speak.

How to Majority. "Gentlemen," he said, "surface indications point to the fact that about 5,000 of you prefer to hear your own voices than to hear mine. I shall not assure you that I will speak in the convention, but rather I will say that I will speak in the convention to-morrow if a majority so wills. I always bow to the will of majority, which is my only hope. I desire to express my thanks to the stalwart body of Onondaga county business men, regardless of party, who have come here to answer the clasp of the opposition. Gentlemen, I am here and you are here because we are Republicans, anxious to do what we can to produce party harmony and party success."

With the arrival of Colonel Roosevelt, the Old Guard doubled its efforts to capture the palm of victory. Lieutenants of William Barnes, Jr., who is leading the Old Guard forces, say to-night that they have made a few gains, but are not ready to claim a majority of the convention. The wavering delegates are being eagerly sought by both sides.

Mr. Grismore announced to-night that the Progressives had 574 delegates out of the 1,015 in the convention, which would give them a good working majority. He said that since the arrival of Colonel Roosevelt the Progressives had gained four votes. Mr. Barnes, with his associates, has written out a complete and full platform, which will be presented to the committee on resolutions, and Mr. Barnes said to-night that they would not submit to a single amendment to that platform. In the event of their defeat, the adopted platform will be entirely made up by the Progressives and they will be responsible for it.

Not of One Mind. Colonel Roosevelt put in some time to-night going over the primary plank of the Progressives' platform. Roosevelt leaders are not all of one mind as to the precise make-up of this particular plank.

Mr. Grismore said to-night that he thought Colonel Roosevelt would select a man from his home county to make the motion substituting the name of the Colonel for that of Vice-President Sherman for Temporary chairman.

Regarding the report that Colonel Roosevelt had been asked by his friends to run for Governor, Mr. Grismore said: "No such proposition has been made to Mr. Roosevelt by me or by any of my friends. The suggestion was suggested to Mr. Roosevelt by me some weeks ago, and that ended it."

The platform, he said, would contain a strong expression against graft, and a vigorous labor plank.

Frederick C. Stevens, superintendent of public works, who is from Wyoming county, looked large to-day as an available candidate for Governor. Efforts were made during the day to have Representative Bennett, of New York, withdraw his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination in order to make way for an up-State man. Mr. Bennett, however, was not inclined to be persuaded.

BOWER'S HILL DISTILLERY RAIDED BY REVENUE MEN

Employee of Tidewater Company Arrested for Removing Barrel of Unstamped Whiskey.

Norfolk, Va., September 26.—Internal revenue officers swooped down upon the Tidewater Distilling Company's plant about a mile and a half from Bower's Hill at 8 o'clock Saturday night and arrested Lewis Fraley, an employee, whom they detected in the act of loading on a wagon a barrel of unstamped whiskey.

He is being held for his appearance before United States Commissioner Stephens at Norfolk, where the investigation will be conducted. The revenue men used force to break into the distillery, and after a search of the premises they found a barrel of whiskey in the cellar.

When they saw Fraley draw up with his wagon and proceed to put aboard the barrel of non-tax-paid whiskey, the men arrested him. He had been working for the distillery for some time, and had been given a license to remove whiskey from the distillery for use in the household.

The whole matter will be settled when Commissioner Stephens sits to hear the case. It is understood that the assertion will be put forth at the hearing that there was a barrel of whiskey in the distillery, and that it was given to him by his employer, that he moved the wrong package of whiskey from the distillery, and that he was not a party to the removal of the whiskey.

Fraley was bailed in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance, W. G. Parker furnishing surety.

CAN BUILD STABLE

Remmie Dally Company's Petition Granted With Provision.

The Council Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform has passed a resolution granting the petition of the Remmie Dally Company to build a brick stable on Seventh street, between Jackson and Adams streets, and to use the same for the purpose of housing horses and carriages. The ordinance providing that the stable shall not be less than seventy feet from Seventh street, for the protection of residents in that neighborhood.

Protests were made by E. A. Farnam, J. H. Fickie, Max Linder and others against building the stable. They withdrew their objection after Councilman Pollock insisted that the stable be built at a safe distance from Sixth and Seventh streets. The City Attorney was instructed to prepare the ordinance.

KILLED BECAUSE HE TOOK JACKPOT

Green Grabbed Money After Making Point and Harris Shot Him.

The coroner's jury of Henrico county, investigating the death of John Green (colored), yesterday afternoon reached the verdict that Green was killed by pistol wounds received from Robert Harris on Sunday morning. Harris has not yet been apprehended, although the police have spread the new broadcast and warned the police of Virginia and North Carolina to be on the lookout for him.

According to the testimony, Green was killed for no greater price than $120. That sum was staked in a crap game, which was being played by the railroad construction gang, just this side of the Belt Line Bridge, and when Green grabbed the money from the ground Harris shot him. Whether, according to the rules of gambling, Green was entitled to the money or not the witnesses could not say. They simply knew that Harris swore that he was not entitled to it, and when Green would not put the stake back Harris shot him.

It seems that eleven negroes in the construction gang were shooting craps by the side of the railroad, and Green had been playing for some time, that he had made his point, which entitled him to the stake. Harris demanded that he put the money back, because he had not made the proper point. Green snatched the money and ran, with Harris running beside him. After going a few yards Harris drew a revolver and shot five times into Green's body. One of the shots missed, but the others took effect in his chest and after running a few yards further he fell dead.

Immediately after the shooting Harris fled. The other negroes were so much occupied with Green that they paid no attention to the murderer, and when Officer Bendall, of the Henrico constabulary, arrived none could tell him where Harris had gone. It is supposed, however, that he made his way across the river into Chesterfield county, and will make an effort to reach North Carolina.

Harris is believed to be known in the southern portion of the State. He is said to have come to Richmond from South Boston. None of the negroes in the construction gang could give any information as to his identity further back than the time when he joined the gang.

DEATH CLAIMS

PROF. THILLOW

Famous Musician Passes Away After Long Career in Richmond—Honored by King.

Professor C. W. Thillow, the dean of musicians of Richmond, died in his home, 215 East Marshall Street, last night, aged eighty years. Professor Thillow had been in feeble health for a year or more, and the end was not unexpected. He had been a resident of this city for many years, and no suffering marked his end. He merely passed away.

For more than a decade Professor Thillow had been the musical director in Richmond. He was a master musician before he came to America thirty years ago, and since his arrival he has been the last word in music in this city. To the young musician he was the master, and to those who had been with him for years he was but little else.

Professor Thillow had made his mark in the musical world before he came to America as court musician to the then King of Bavaria. As a sovereign of his office in Bavaria he brought to this country a cello which was presented as a parting gift from the King of Bavaria himself. That cello has been the pride of Professor Thillow for many years. The cello was a gift from the King of Bavaria, and it was with this cello that Professor Thillow played in the social world of Richmond. He was a member of the orchestra of the Monday German Club and the Tuesday German Club, of this city, have for years been conducted by him. When private entertainments called, Professor Thillow was always there, and the leader of the orchestra was as much required as the leader of the band.

For several years Professor Thillow had been almost unable to play his part in the work of his orchestra, but no matter how he felt about his work he was always there. And his musicians did all that he could not do himself. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.
